

Future scenarios with decision theory and the AHP

Veneta Marzen Dobрева

Academy for Holistic Healing e.V.

Tannenweg 6-8

79737 Herrischried-Niedergerbisbach, Germany

Tel: ++49 (0)7764 929624, Fax:++49 (0)7764 929806

Abstract: Decision models are based on the mechanistic and rational-atheistic world view, in which there is no room for God, religion and beliefs. However managers take important decisions intuitively by the inclusion of emotional and spiritual factors. This paper offers holistic decision models which concern the harmony and the unity of body, soul, mind and spirit. The knowledge about the evolution of mankind, the meaning of life and death, the actual changes of our sun systems are basic factors for future decisions. The AHP may help for the transcendence to a higher dimension of being.

1. Introduction

Decision models are a mirror of the mechanistic, evolutionary world view which is represented in the most scientific journals, for example, the weekly editions of "Nature" and "Science", in which there is no room for God and selfcritics concerning basic assumptions, manipulations and prejudices. It is a fact that the world greatest medical data banks, the "National Library of Medecine and the National Cancer Institute", collected in the last 30 years 10 millions scientific publications from which only 300 publications were devoted to divine and spiritual healing. This means that only one of 33000 medical publications focus on the important questions: where we come from, what is the meaning of life?

Even though an increasing number of people recognise that we are not a chemical or a gene machine, and our mind is not a "meat machine", the medicine, society and decision theory work with the mechanistic-atheistic world view. The consequence is the today medicine with its repair service, defect diagnosis and cure with side effects without garanty, and also its spare part service. Both the alternative and the school medecine destroy the harmony of body, mind, soul and spirit. How can then scientists think in a proper way if they are physically, mentally and psychically ill? All decision models are strongly dependent on the spiritual health and state of humans.

Spiritual health includes the knowledge of divine universal laws, treatment with natural remedies, organic food without meat consumption, elimination of environmental poisons in water and food, praying and awareness that Jesus Christ as the Creator of All Being, avoiding drugs and dependency on television, radio, newspapers, and computer mythology etc. More the style of live is unhealthy, the higher is the danger for all people to become crazy because of the disharmony between their own and the terrestrial geomagnetic field. The fact of the pole reverse of our sun system and the earth is not communicated to the public.

2. The transformation process of mankind and the earth

Humanity with the planet earth are going through a process of transformation, from the third dimension (matter) into the fourth dimension (ether) enhancing their own level of vibration, the so-called Schumann's frequency. The earth follows with all other planets of our sun system our local sun which after 25920 years begins a new vibrational cycle around the sirius, another sun at a higher vibrational level. The transformation process requires a pole reverse to replace the polarity with duality which is the normal state in the cosmos. The polarity on earth caused the alienation from the divine toward material goods, fast food, cigarettes, drugs, alcohol, pharmaceutical, etc.

NASA observations show that this transformation has already happened with our local sun such as its north and south poles have disappeared and its surface became homogenous. Scientists do not have an explanation of this effects since science cannot cope with a higher dimension than matter. The problem with the pole reverse is that the geomagnetic field of the earth, in general, 4 gauß, actually measures 0.4 gauß and has to go down to zero. In the same time the Schumann's resonance increased from 7.8 Hz to 11 Hz. However human beings need the magnetic field to keep their emotional, psychical and memory balance. Most people cell holograms are damaged because of their degeneratif style of live. Such people have chaotic brain waves which cannot resonate with the geomagnetic field of the earth. To increase the brain wave frequency up to 11 or even 13 Hz by the end of this years is only possible for very purified spiritual people. Many people risk to become crazy if the magnetism goes down to zero. To avoid this danger we need to understand the transmutation process of our own bodies which will provide a global change in our genes. The genes are composed of DNA with 12 units. Until now only two of these units were stimulated. From the brain capacity only 10-15% was used.

The fully developed, spiritual and galactic human being who is energetically androgyn (incorporates male and female properties), may possess 12 senses such as: fine feeling, fine hearing, clairvoyance, telepathy, telekinesis, teleportation, materialisation and dematerialisation, eternal life, 100% activation of brain and memory, fathering and conception of children controlled by the consciousness, and the most important potential, the opening the heart to the Christus spark by developing divine virtues: love, truthfulness, spirit of sacrifice, selflessness, forgiveness, self criticism, peace, belief, confidence in God, patience, modesty, etc. Divine virtues can be developed if we are ready to clean out our body, mind and soul from all blockages, old pattern, wrong programmes which contradict the divine virtues.

3. The transformation process, decision theory and the AHP

3.1 Levels of consciounes

Everybody and everything, not matching the geomagnetic frequency, will break down to provide space for people and technologies that carry the higher level of consciousness needed for sustainable development in the Golden Age. Consciousness is one of the eight emanations of spirit:

- consciousness
- dual love (see 3.4.3)
- viability (see 3.3 and 3.4.3)
- free will
- mind (see 3.3)
- cosmic intelligence and wisdom (see 3.2.1)
- sensation (12 senses)
- intellect (see 3.2.1)

Consciousness can be divided into three groups: subconsciousness, daily consciousness and superconsciousness. Superconsciousness is a part of the divine consciousness.

Scientists developed methods and models of decision theory based on intellect and daily consciousness. They have the free will to enlarge their mind capacity and their sensation (12 senses) and develop a cosmic intelligence and wisdom. In that case decision theory will be replaced by the ability to hear the inner voice, his intuition and telepathy or the guidance by divine extraterrestrial through channeling, etc. The survivors of the pole reverse have the possibility to connect to the galactic scientific centre which has his plans to help humanity by introducing new technologies and real knowledge to the earth.

The contribution of Tom Saaty's AHP to decision theory is great. He has helped to relativate strong decision models and open the way of models based on intuition and network structures. In particular, his often criticised ratio scale proves finally right. According to the relativity theory of Einstein any measurement of space and time is relative. In the third dimension there are only subjective realities. Any decision model and method which belong to our current level of consciousness is always good.

The daily consciousness comprises around 10% of the divine reality. In general the knowledge of the divine was suppressed, manipulated or rejected. Many people are not able to accept changes or listen to the absolute truth as they are guided by negative spirits. Everybody has a spiritual guide who can be either positive (divine) or negative (servants of Satan).

The divine or Superconsciousness is used by light spirits and angels to enlighten us in a intuitive way. Often humans have no feelings for these messages as their antenna which is connected to the original light is closed. Therefore angels and higher light spirits use the subconsciousness to produce pictures which can appear at a given time and space in the daily consciousness.

3.2 Decision models

3.2.1 The relationship of body, soul, mind and spirit

We need decision models in which we can incorporate our thoughts. They help us to understand prejudices and to advance in our development if we are willing to learn. We can change models every day if we become aware of the following cause-effect relationships: we communicate our thoughts by our words, our words transform in actions, actions become attitudes, attitudes shape our character and the character determines our destiny. If we want to change our life and make better decisions we must change our thoughts and our emotional world. Our emotions depend on our soul processes which create our beliefs. The physical part of the soul is related to the blood and cells in whose core the genetic code lies. For example, blood transfusion could save lives but it could as well transfer a peaceful man in a murderer by transfusion of "murderer" genes. The nerves and the nerve fluid are carriers of the spiritual part of the soul. The spiritual, divine flow comes through the hypothalamus, one of the most important endocrine glands and flows further to the heart. The heart is the vessel of the soul and spirit which lies in the sinus node. One day everybody will feel the divine spark in its heart which leads to the Jesus Christ consciousness. Divine thoughts may transform into beautiful images, which can only be observed if our glands and energetic centres, called chakras are developed.

The most important energetic centre is the heart chakra in which the law of wisdom may work. Wisdom manifests itself by the unity of body, mind and soul:

- body: hedonism, dependence on drugs, material goods, sins, passions, etc.
- soul: emotions and awareness expressed by the 12 senses
- spirit: works via the blood and the intelligence.

The cosmic intelligence works via puzzles, via the harmony of body, soul, mind and spirit, properties, talents, wisdom, divine virtues, holistic rationality, etc. Intellect may work via academic knowledge and cause-effect relationships.

3.2.2 The divine origin of the Creation

A basic level of spiritual development is the acceptance of the divine origin of the Creation with its spiritual laws. According to Einstein there is no vacuum, everything is involved in an energetic continuum. The divinity, called Trinity, is the source of this energetic continuum in which all bodies in various degrees of condensation are embedded according to the divine plans. Thus the holy Ghost is the highest spirit, the highest level of intelligence, the absolute truth, the basis of all being. The first manifestation and condensation of the holy Ghost is God Father. The first manifestation and condensation of God Father is his son, Jesus Christ. Further manifestations and condensations of Jesus Christ are arcangels, angels, nature spirits, universes with their galaxies and sun systems. Thus matter as we know it on earth may be regarded as the highest level of condensation of Spirit and consequently, the lowest level of intelligence. Max Planck said in one of his lectures:

"As a physician who, for his whole life served the most rational science that investigates matter, I am happy if you think I am a dreaming spirit. After many years of nuclear research I tell you: there is no matter.

The whole of matter originates and exist through a power which causes the atom particles to vibrate around the nucleus like a miniature solar system. However in the whole universe there is no one power which is intelligent or eternal. Therefore behind the perpetuum mobile we must admit that there is a conscious, intelligent Spirit. This Spirit is the very basis of matter. The real, absolute and true matter is not the matter we see and which decays. Rather it is the invisible, eternal spirit. Because spirit cannot exist alone, we suggest that it belongs to essences in the form of nature spirits.

Thus we must accept the existence of nature spirits which cannot originate from nothing. Rather they are created by the secret Creator whom, over thousand of years, in all cultures, was given the name God" (Planck, M.).

3.3. The origin of thoughts

Thoughts have been used from the very beginning of the universe to create life. "At the beginning was the word , the word was by God and God was the word" (John, chapter 1, verse 1).

At the beginning as the world was created from the dead original stuff God used words, called mantras, incorporated in the divine mystics. Behind these words were divine creative thoughts which began to realise in various shapes. The power of viability was given to arcangels, angels, elochims, and other higher spirits. Any existing form conforms with one spiritual model. The energetic continuum, represented by spiritual and material universes is full of vibrations which are carriers of various thoughts. The cosmos is full of mental models which may be divine or not. We are not able to create thoughts. According to the vibrational level of our mind we can attract good or bad thoughts which flow through our mind and produce waves called alpha, beta, gamma, etc. Bad thoughts cannot come without reason. Rather they are attracted by the resonating frequency of our mind. Our mind consists of the various parts of the brain, short term and long term memory, the hypophysis, the spinal marrow, etc. The brain is the physical hardware of the mind. The spiritual hardware of the mind is the aura as a part of the spiritual field, called odfield.

3.4 Some spiritual laws

3.4.1 The law of resonance

We create the basis of our thoughts. The more dynamic, powerful, loving, active, devoted and selfless we are, the more exhilarated, noble, elevated, and superior are our thoughts.

Thoughts are waves as a part of the energetic continuum. The law of resonance is based on the reinforcement or deletion of the superposition of waves. It acts on humans as well on plants and animals. Thoughts incorporate three important rules:

- Thoughts are an invisible body (scalar wave), whose intensity and manifestation can vary. For example, thought can have a different colour, smell, sound and shape. Clairvoyants can perceive thoughts by shape, sound and smell.
- The sender and the receiver of thoughts are both responsible for the effects they produce in the social network. This is due to the law of karma (cause and effect).
- Thoughts are nature spirits and therefore they have a consciousness like human beings. They want to survive and they receive their nutrition through human inconsistency. Human inconsistency allows thoughts to enter the body and to be nourished. "Laissez-faire" behaviour is the most nourishing factor for negative thoughts. Negative thoughts may attract phantoms, demons and other negative spirits which cause sufferings and self-destruction.

3.4.2 The law of wisdom (positive thoughts)

With our will we can protect and send away all destructive and disastrous thoughts. Positive thoughts, full of light and love, can protect us since they give us courage, confidence, joy, good spirit, etc.

"If we do not occupy our mind with positive thoughts the enemy will fill it with negative thoughts since it cannot function without thoughts" (P. Lefébre).

The concentration of negative thoughts belong to collective karma and may result in wars like those in former Yugoslavia. Negative thoughts nourish the polarity and attracts dark, low, earth connected nature spirits, which pull us away from balance. Therefore strong control of our thoughts is indispensable and depends on our will to develop divine virtues. If we feel like a wonderful flame, which is full of love for God, then we will wish to serve like the sun without compensation. In such a state we can send light as our thoughts have energy and power, which we can use for healing the world. We cannot send thoughts without emotions and emotions do not exist without thoughts. We should be very careful with urging and prejudices since they are products of negative thoughts.

3.4.3 The law of love and duality

The law of love incorporates the universal love into any part of creation in which single parts can find their correspondent part through the law of resonance and duality. The best example of duality is the dual molecule of water in which the positive pole (hydrogen) is connected to the negative pole (oxygen) to create a super connection, indispensable for life. For example, the brain cells involve water to 70% , which carry information in a wave form. The mind cannot register vibrational frequencies without water, the blood becomes thick and the nerve fluid dries. Uncleaned water, which contains poisons like coal dioxide, heavy metals, etc. leads to under function of mind cells and memory. Brain cells cannot create phosphor as the medicine believes. Phosphor is created through the divine prana which we take in by the respiration. This is one of the important manifestation of the spiritual power, viability. The viability to create objects from the ether field is one of the highest initiation of the holy Ghost. It is given not only to angels, to people as well, who developed divine virtues.

Duality involves also the formation of pairs and families through love. The formation of groups, like the AHP, is related to the law of rotation.

4. Conclusion

It is likely that the natural deterioration, the culmination of the social conflicts and the fight for world domination might come to an end through a Third world war. Interpretations of prophecies for the Apokalypse suggest a russian military invasion of Europe and a financial crash of the Western banking system caused by a computer virus. Chinese and Americans might fight for world domination. Thousands of people in large cities might die as a consequence of natural disasters or epidemics.

No one decision model can stop this development. The objective of this paper is to get scientists to wake up. Divine laws and the absolute truth about evolution and life exist if we are aware of them or not. Those who want to further develop will take the chance for transformation and change bad attitudes. Those who are not willing to change may at least notice that everything in life happens according to their free will. Decisions, according to the Heisenberg's fuzzy relation, are always taken between two opposite poles. There is no midway. Therefore decision making can be performed according to one single criterium: what is the divine opinion about this decision problem? We can find the answer in our inner voice if we are purified and medial.

Purification is a process which includes various clean-me-out systems of body, mind and souls, changing behaviour, natural remedies for regeneration, yoga, praying, etc.

5. References

Lefébre, P., The Holy Europe, London 1992

Marzen-Dobreva, V. , The Future of the Earth, Governance and Sustainable Development, Vol. 2, (Eigenverlag) St. Ingbert 1998

Saaty, R. The Analytic Hierarchy Process: Ratio scales and Intervall scale; Proceedings of the ISAHP- Conference, Vancouver, Canada, 1996